How long should we wash our hands?

As we endure living with Coronavirus variants, flu seasons, and common colds, Time Timer® has made it our mission to simplify the first line of defense against the spread of disease: scrubbing hands for at least 20 seconds.

These touchless visual timers not only enforce the duration of handwashing needed to curb infectious disease spread, without having to memorize songs or count, but can also be used to help ease OCD, germaphobia and pandemic anxiety.
